County Rain Hits 6.06 Ins.

Hancock County are still up from the rain that has been falling since Sunday, causing fields to flood and trees to be blown over. The rain was the heaviest since the severe rains in the area last year.

The Pearl River was reported at its highest mark in five years Tuesday but by this morning started to recede. Fred Smith, lockmaster at Lock 1 on West Pearl River, reported the river level at 30.7 feet Tuesday.

Heart Sunday Canvass Set By Beta Club

Bay High School's Beta Club will make a door-to-door canvass for funds for the Hancock County Heart Drive Sunday, Heart Sunday.

The students will canvass between 1 and 5 p.m. About 45 members will join in the drive, sponsored for the third year by the club as one of its civic projects. The Heart Fund work of the club has been cited as outstanding in Mississippi.

The campaign is conducted under the direction of Mrs. Norman Hall, club sponsor. Paul Miller is president.

Negro residents will also be canvassed Sunday by students of St. Rose de Lima School under the direction of the Rev. John Bowman, pastor.

Mrs. David Markey, co-chairman of the Heart Fund in Waveland being undertaken by the Waveland Home Demonstration Club, said while workers have already been soliciting, a concentrated drive will be held Sunday to reach many who are at home only on weekends. Mrs. John Munch is chairman.

The county goal for 1961 is $1,200.

Still no reason has been given by Lloyd Sapp for the Mardi Gras night strangulation murders of his 35-year-old wife, Queta, and his nine year old step-daughter, Gloria.

Sapp, arrested last Wednesday, in Greenville, was returned to Hancock County jail and taken to Wiggins the next afternoon for interrogation by District Attorney Boyce Holloman.

MUSTER DAY - Members of Bay St. Louis' 134th transportation company of the National Guard show visitors mobile equipment during open house at the armory Wednesday. Occasion was Muster Day to commemorate the days when militia was mustered annually on the village green to determine how many men were available in case of emergency.

Local Disaster Plan Work Starts

Mississippi's Gulf Coast, which annually faces the threat of hurricanes, is also the area most vulnerable to invasion in case of war, Hancock County officials and civil defense leaders were warned Friday.

Thomas O. Logue, administrator of Hancock General Hospital, cited the lack of defenses here and the weather problems at a session called to set up a master disaster plan for Hancock County.

Stressing the need for preparation, he said that in case of attack or a hurricane one of the biggest fears would be fear itself. He said in disaster "people forget themselves, they forget organization, there are waves of stealing and raiding."

During the Hurricane Ethel scare officials and others conducted themselves in an organized manner, but each didn't know what the other was doing, he recalled.

Plans for organizing civil defense, police, fire, hospital and other workers to cope with disaster were discussed.

Get Headquarters For Kiln Project, Bridge Hearing Set

Engineers of the State Highway Department have rented headquarters back of Dantagan Realty Co., on Main Street and work is expected to begin on new Rt. 603 soon. Bent 5 Supervisor R. G. Hubbard, Jr., was unable to attend.

CIVIL WAR CENTENNIAL - Members of the Bay St. Louis Civil War Centennial Committee appointed Thomas O. Logue to form an artillery unit to represent the Bay at a meeting in City Hall Thursday.

Blood Drawing Set April 19

The first blood drawing for 1961 is scheduled April 19 by the Hancock County Blood Bank.

John D. Rutherford, Jr., president, said the drawing will be from 2 to 8 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis Youth Center.

Notices are being sent to those who have drawn from the blood bank that they may repay the blood they owe at that time. Others throughout the county are being urged to donate blood for the reserves of the bank.

It was recently reported that the bank has a credit of 122 pints of blood which Rutherford said should last until April.

Initial plans for the organization of an artillery unit of the Mississippi Greys were set by the Bay St. Louis Civil War Centennial Committee Thursday.

Thomas O. Logue, vice chairman, was named general of the unit by Mayor John A. Scafield. It will take part in Civil War centennial events here and throughout the state. A name is being sought for the outfit.

Meters Out Council Votes on Merchants' Plea

City Commission Council voted Monday to have parking meters removed in accordance with a petition presented at the previous meeting signed by 34 beachfront and Main St. merchants.

Mayor John A. Scafield observed that the merchants had complained the meters are harmful to their businesses but although the request was publicized, there has been no organized or individual opposition to the meter removal from the public or businessmen.

The petition further alleged the meters were discriminatory in that they were placed only in that part of the city.

Commissioner Warren Traub introduced the motion to ask the Hancock Parking Meter Co. to void their contract with the city within 30 days and to remove the meters. The vote was unanimous.

The one-year meter trial contract was signed last May and installation started June 7.

"We put the meters in for the primary and principal reason to help the merchants," the mayor commented. If the 34 business people claim they are harmful they should come out.

Alden Mauffray, spokesman for the petitioners, appeared to push action on the request. "I'm not trying to railroad or bulldoze anything through," he declared, but said the meters are harmful and should be removed.

He reported that he is "reasonably sure" of cooperation from one-third of the merchants in not parking their cars in the area now metered.

Commissioner J. Cyril Glover, Jr., remarked the public has not expressed any interest in keeping the meters. He said that while three of the petitioners have since asked that their names be removed from the petition.

Parking Meters Yield $3,000 Since Last June

The city treasury has picked up $2,817.95 plus $252.10 in fines for violations from the beachfront and Main Street parking meters since they went into operation last June, according to City Commissioner of Finance Warren Traub.

The take by collection periods was June 8 to July 30, $796.91; July 30 to Aug. 28, $403.63; Aug. 28 to Oct. 2, $387.35; Oct. 2 to Oct. 30, $321.92; Oct. 30 to Nov. 27, $285.28; Nov. 27 to Dec. 31, $384.82; Dec. 31 to Jan. 29, $238.04. Since Jan. 29 collections have averaged about $55 a week.

A 25 cent parking meter fine is charged.

In accordance with the city's contract with the Duncan Parking Meter Co., half of the meter fees goes to the company and half to the city, that share being allocated automatically to the parks and playground commission.

3 Mentioned Likely to Run For City Posts

Three local men who have been mentioned as likely candidates in the coming city election this spring were non-committal this week about their intentions to run but did not reject the possibility.

The trio, Justice of the Peace Russell Elliott, Burton D. Johnson, former sheriff, and Lucas Pucheu, Jr., all said they had been approached with offers of support. They added they have not yet made up their minds about seeking the mayor's seat or those of the two city commissioners.

Midnight, April 8, is the deadline for candidates to qualify for the Democratic primary on May 9 and City Democratic chairman George Stevenson said no one has yet filed with him.

School Patrol Women Named

Two school traffic patrol women have been employed by the city, Mayor John A. Scafield reports.

They are Mrs. Elise Depree, who is patrolling North Bay Elementary School, and Mrs. Bosman Edmondson, assigned to St. Rose de Lima School.

The mayor said they started Wednesday. Both women work two hours a day, an hour in the morning as the youngsters are enroute to school and in the afternoon as they go home. The guards have navy blue uniforms with light blue shirts and black ties.

County Board Eyes Defects at School

Structural problems which have come to light since Hancock North Central School was completed in the spring of 1959 are to be discussed with Architect Charles R. Proffer when the county board of education opens its next meeting about 9 a.m. March 6 at the school.

Arrangements for a conference with the architect as well as with H. P. Smith of the state education department's transportation office were scheduled when the board met last Saturday.

The board has been concerned for some time about various repairs that have been necessary in the new building. Attorney Walter J. Phillips noted three phases to the problem: normal wear and tear; construction failing to meet specifications; and repairs evolving from inherent defects in design. In the first and third instances the board must replace at its own expense, he observed.

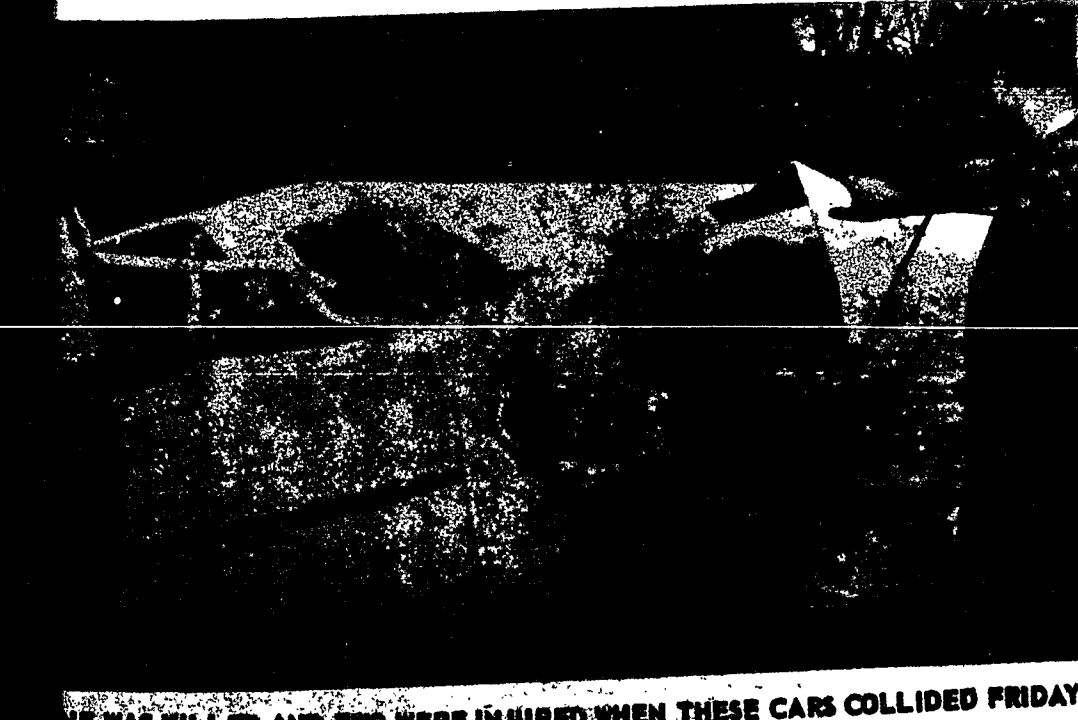

Superintendent Kenneth G. McCarty was directed to arrange for Smith to come down for a discussion that morning of the feasibility of establishing a school bus shop at Kiln or some location nearer North Central which uses the bulk of the buses.

Amendment to the minutes of the Nov. 26 meeting which allocated proceeds from the Leetown School sale to building funds was tabled until Phillips talks with (Cont. on Page 4.)

Death Stalks U.S. 90; Two Are Killed

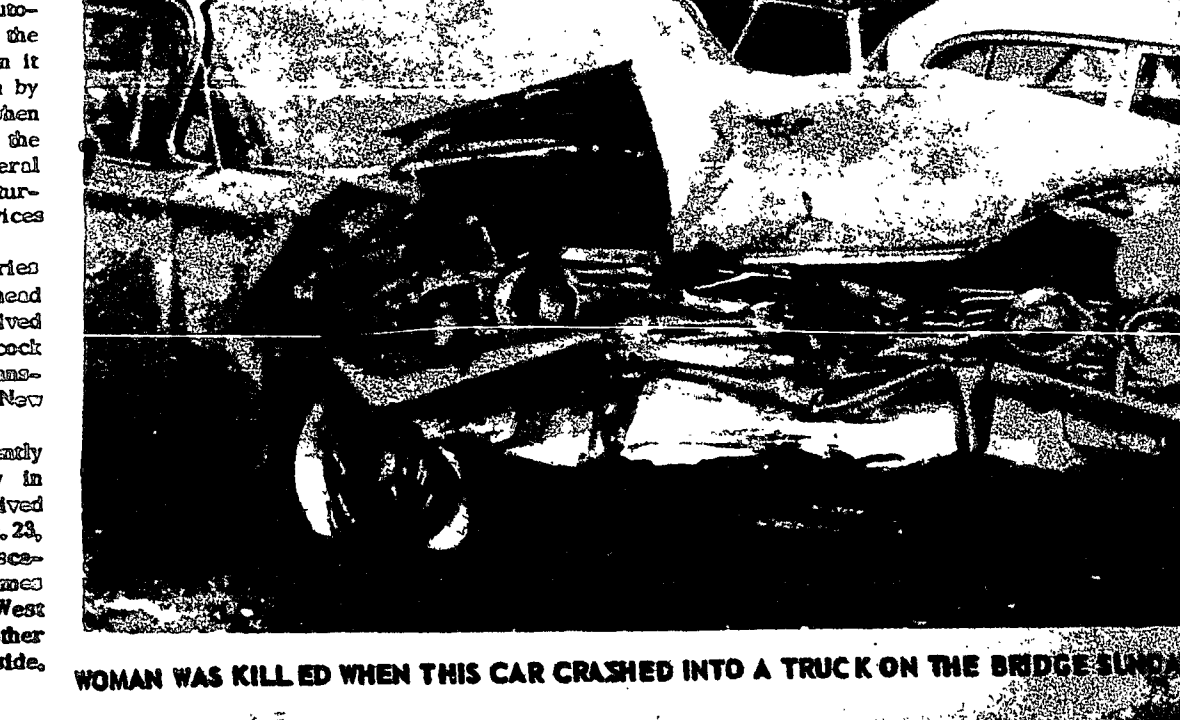

HE WAS KILLED AND TWO WERE INJURED WHEN THESE CARS COLLIDED FRIDAY.

Hancock County recorded its third and fourth traffic fatalities of the year last weekend in two mishaps on U. S. 90, one late Friday and the other early Sunday.

The dead are John P. Dearing, 62, of New Orleans and Mrs. Mario Stewart, 16, formerly of Long Beach, Calif.

Dearing was killed and a Baton Rouge, La., couple were injured in a collision at 9:15 p.m. Friday on U. S. 90 six miles west of Bay St. Louis. The injured were identified as Bobby R. West, 25, and his wife, Betty, 21.

Mrs. Stewart was killed on the Bay bridge when her husband was unable to stop their car on the wet steel grating of the cantilever section and crashed into the rear of a semi-truck. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Hancock General Hospital. Her husband, Charles, 22, received cuts and bruises and was treated in the hospital.

A Bargain

You are being asked to give nine cents this Sunday. That is the tiny sum each resident of Hancock County is asked to contribute so that the 1961 Heart Fund may reach its goal.

Diseases of the heart continue as the nation's No. 1 killer and it is toward research in conquest of this that the annual Heart Fund campaign is directed. One heart victim is old age, the full life span is recorded and death follows. But coronary illness is most tragic when it suddenly, and frequently with little warning, strikes down the young and those in the prime of life, leaving young families without a father or mother.

This enemy is not across the sea or on the other side of the country. Too often it is within our very midst.

This Sunday afternoon, Heart Sunday, our young people will knock on doors and ask your support. The wonders of scientific studies have overcome many things in our lifetimes. It is not too much to expect that diseases of the heart can be successfully harnessed. Won't you help? It's so little for so much.

Our 20th century Minutemen, the National Guardsmen, are observing this week across the nation their annual Muster Day. Since early Colonial days, these men have been motivated by a conviction that citizenship demands more than the payment of taxes and obedience to the law. They have believed that a good citizen must put into his country at least as much as he has taken out of it.

There are times when someone says the guardsmen don't work hard enough or the National Guard doesn't do enough. Ask him, "What did you do, Joe?"

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:
I believe the controversy between the merchants and the City Council about parking meters is because business is slow, and not due to a buyers strike against parking meters.

Outlying stores offer free parking to offset their not too favorable location and this is effective because there always is a parking space. I bet business is not good with them either. I'm in favor of the meters as it sure makes it a convenience to go to the store of my choice.

Yours truly,

Local Exchange Phones Double Over Decade

The total number of telephones in the Bay St. Louis exchange more than doubled during the past decade, according to figures released by Southern Bell this week.

To be exact, the number increased 113 per cent from 1,614 telephones at the end of 1950 to 3,438 at the end of 1960. The past five years' growth accounted for 61 per cent of this increase.

At the same time the total number of telephones in Mississippi increased 99 per cent from 219,145 to 436,453. Sixty-six per cent of this increase came in the past five years.

Moose Appoint Membership House for County Lodge

Harold Lemaz of Gulfport has been appointed membership director in Hancock County for the Loyal Order of Moose Lodge now being organized.

Lamaz, secretary of Gulfport Lodge 1359, is to complete the organizational work on the charter started by George Banks, state Moose representative who has been promoted by the organization.

Organizational meetings are held each Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Ray's Restaurant on Ulman Ave. Men interested in joining may attend one of the meetings and contact Mayor John A. Scalfie, Jim Mayfield, Clifton or Emile Pizazz or Lynn Rutherford.

Through Their Whiskers

Water covers three-fourths of the earth's surface and everywhere there are fish in it --- big fish and little fish.

The smallest living things in the sea are tiny creatures called plankton --- they are of fantastic shapes, phosphorescent, and of every color. The biggest denizen of the deep is the blue whale --- the largest animal in the world. It lives on plankton, straining the food through its whiskers.

From the beginning of time men lived by what they took from the sea, and not so long ago the Mississippi Gulf thrived on a fish economy.

In 1958, the last year for which we have official figures, 22,294 commercial fishermen operated 2,507 fish boats in Gulf Coast waters, and made a total catch of 809 million pounds valued in excess of $86,000,000.

Among the Gulf Coast States, Mississippi ranked second only to Louisiana in landings; Mississippi's net was 26 per cent of the total catch, Louisiana's 39 per cent.

And in the transportation, processing and marketing of seafood there were 65 establishments operating in Mississippi, employing 4,522 persons in sea. So fishing is much more than a favorite sport or form of recreation in these waters --- it was worth over six million dollars to Mississippi in 1958, and we haven't skimmed the surface.

An industry which once flourished in these parts in a big way under great difficulties now has improved facilities, with modern refrigeration and processing and marketing techniques.

There is no danger yet of ever catching too much fish. The average annual per capita consumption of meat in the United States was 152 pounds in 1958, chicken 28.3 pounds and fish only 10.4 pounds.

The creation of the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission and its public spirited efforts to revive a major industry deserve every cooperation. As communities seek added payrolls and look to their natural resources to capitalize on their advantages more fully, the Mississippi Gulf Coast looks to the sea where there are just as big fish as have ever been caught.

TREE CHLORIDE HARM REVEALED

CHLORIDE TOXICITY STUDIES SHOW IMPORTANCE OF FEEDING SULPHATE OF POTASH IN SUL-PO-MAG

International Minerals & Chemical Corporation researchers and other scientists develop conclusive evidence on the harmful effects of chloride feeding to fruit trees, small fruit quality

The use of potash fertilizers in fruit production has been increasing rapidly. This has brought up the question, "Which form of potash gives best results in orchard fertilization?" This question has been attacked by several research groups, who have compared the results of sulphate of potash with other forms of potash for fruit trees. These studies show that increasing the chloride level of the soil through use of potassium chloride can definitely be harmful to the growth and development of young trees. Sulphate of potash, on the other hand, has proved safe for fruit tree fertility.

CHLORIDE DEPRESSES GROWTH

In a study reported in May, 1960, the International Minerals & Chemical Corporation Research Department compared the "effect of chloride and sulphate on the growth of young apple and peach trees." This study was conducted by Drs. L. F. Green, IMC Senior Research

It was found that increasing the chloride level from 0 to 555 and 665 parts per million resulted in severe growth depression of the apple and peach trees. The high chloride treatments reduced leaf surface area, reduced the length and weight of tree shoots and severely retarded the development of fibrous root systems. The trees fed potassium sulphate had healthy, deep-green leaves, while the leaves of the chloride-injured trees were pale and faded. Severe leaf drop was also noted at high chloride levels.

CHLORIDE PROMOTES LOSS OF OTHER NUTRIENTS

In a thesis for his M.S. degree, David Ross Dilley, of Michigan State University, studied the comparative effects of chloride and sulphate of potash to cherry, apple and peach trees. Following are some of his observations:

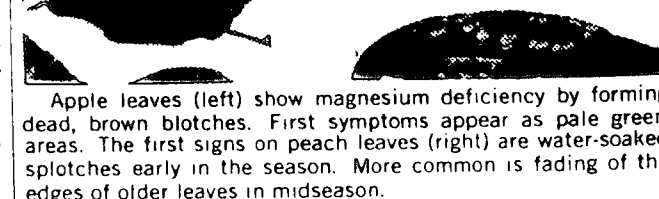

- Increasing the supply of chloride decreased all measurements of growth for trees in the test.
- Increasing the supply of chloride and sulphate together depressed growth in proportion to the chloride level.
- Chloride promoted loss of nutrients from the soil, mainly calcium. And it depressed tree absorption of certain elements, such as potassium and sulphur.

Another report, contained in volume 71, 1958, from the American Society for Horticultural Science pointed out that under certain conditions, sulphate of potash may be the most effective form of potash for correcting potassium deficiency.

This study also suggested that applications of potassium chloride may actually accentuate potassium deficiency under conditions of low soil potassium coupled with drought.

Magnesium-protected fruit trees have proved to weather cold winters better.

Apple leaves (left) show magnesium deficiency by forming dead, brown blotches. First symptoms appear as pale green areas. The first signs on peach leaves (right) are water-soaked blotches early in the season. More common is fading of the edges of older leaves in midseason.

Magnesium feeding improves fruit set and quality

High fruit yield and quality are heavily dependent upon an adequate supply of magnesium in the soil. Yet, more often than not, orchard soils are low in this vital element.

By keeping up the magnesium level in your soil, you'll improve fruit set — bring more fruit to maturity — rich-colored, quality fruit that will bring high prices at market time. Regular addition of magnesium also helps overcome alternate-year bearing.

In fact, the very health and growth of your orchard depend on magnesium. As an important part of chlorophyll, magnesium is vital to leaf health and nutritional functions.

A severe case of magnesium shortage can be recognized first by pale yellow or dead areas between the leaf veins (see photo at right). This may be followed by early leaf drop, dropped fruit and the killing of young wood. Once magnesium deficiency becomes this severe, the tree may take years to recover.

Insurance against magnesium deficiency is simple and inexpensive. A general recommendation is to use premium fertilizer containing Sul-Po-Mag. You can also use Sul-Po-Mag as a direct application, side or top dressed.

Magnesium: a major plant food

Because fruit is a high-value crop, most growers won't run the risk of omitting any of the major plant foods in their mixed fertilizers.

And today, magnesium is often referred to as the fourth major plant food element.

TAKE ACTION WITH SUL-PO-MAG!

Ask your fertilizer manufacturer or dealer to furnish mixed fertilizers with all magnesium in water-soluble form — from SUL-PO-MAG.

Plan for bigger fruit profits with heavy application of water-soluble magnesium — 60 to 80 lbs. per acre — from SUL-PO-MAG.

Insist all potash be in the sulphate form.

Use sulphate of potash-magnesia for side dressing trees — to provide water-soluble magnesia and potash in sulphate form — from SUL-PO-MAG.

Insist your mixed fertilizers contain premium-quality SUL-PO-MAG.

Water-soluble Sul-Po-Mag prevents magnesium shortages...provides potash in sulphate form to guard against chlorine injury, supplies needed sulphur

With fruit growers putting more and more importance on complete (N-P-K) fertilizers, orchard yield and quality are at an all-time high. But both could be even higher for most growers — perhaps much higher. The reason is that many so-called "complete" fertilizers aren't complete enough. Often magnesium is missing.

Why the sudden shortage of magnesium? There are two answers. First, the problem of magnesium deficiency is not new to many growers, especially those grown on light, sandy soil. Perhaps the trouble has not been noticed until recently. It is a quality-destroying quirk of magnesium deficiency not to display visible symptoms for years...until after heavy losses have occurred.

Secondly, on many soils the problem actually is a new one. Acid soil science believes the reason, oddly enough, is the increased use of potash in mixed fertilizers. Recent studies in North Carolina, Georgia, Arkansas, South Carolina, New York and Michigan on cherries, peaches and apples...show that there is an important and positive interrelationship between the forms of potash and magnesium. It affects nutritional balance.

And since the nutritional dependence does exist, the larger quantities of potash applied through mixed fertilizers or direct applications correspondingly increase the need for magnesium to promote the tree health, fruit quality and yields you want. This is in addition to resupplying the soil with magnesium already lost through heavy crop production and the normal leaching action of rain.

As a result, magnesium holds a key place in orchard fertilization. For fruit growers, it is a fourth major plant food element.

SOIL MAGNESIUM SHORTAGES COMMON IN MANY U.S. AREAS...SPREADING RAPIDLY TO NEW AREAS, NEW CROPS

Soil over a large part of the United States lacks sufficient magnesium. This shortage takes a heavy toll in reduced crop yields and quality every year. What's more, the shortage is rapidly spreading to new areas.

The annual crop loss lost because of magnesium shortage is impossible to calculate. The reason is the magnesium deficiency can have spread so rapidly since first noticed in commercial crops only 30 years ago.

First, many soils, particularly in sandy or light textured areas, are inherently low in magnesium. Second, rainfall, alone, deficiencies in peach trees have been reported the

GUARD AGAINST DEFICIENCY

This steady drain results in magnesium deficiency. A simple, inexpensive way to build or maintain the supply of magnesium in your soil is to add Sul-Po-Mag...a water-soluble combination of potash and sulphur...to your soil every year in mixed fertilizer. Your fertilizer dealer or manufacturer can supply Sul-Po-Mag, either in a mixed fertilizer or for direct application.

REASONS FOR Mg SHORTAGE

There are several reasons why magnesium shortages have spread so rapidly since first noticed in commercial crops only 30 years ago.

First, many soils, particularly in sandy or light textured areas, are inherently low in magnesium. Second, rainfall, alone, deficiencies in peach trees have been reported the

SMALL FRUIT QUALITY

Premium fertilizer with Sul-Po-Mag is recommended for all small fruit because it supplies water-soluble magnesium plus potash in the sulphate form. The low chloride in Sul-Po-Mag is particularly important in growing quality blueberries. And a steady diet of magnesium is vital for raspberries, strawberries, blueberries and other small fruit even though deficiency signs aren't apparent. The tell-tale symptoms appear only after heavy losses have already occurred.

Sul-Po-Mag—economical source for fast-acting, grove-available, magnesium

Consider these Mg facts before you buy your next load of fertilizer.

Fact No. 1: Not just any magnesium-fortified fertilizer will do. One brand gives your crops a triple-nutrition boost.

Fact No. 2: Not every magnesium source is readily available, fast-acting and water-soluble.

Fact No. 3: Not every source is granular—the form that slows up leaching action, yet still makes magnesium available as needed.

This is a fertilizer containing Sul-Po-Mag.

OTHER Mg SOURCES

Dolomitic limestone, for example, is one source of magnesium, but it does not make magnesium immediately available. It requires chemical action by the soil and plant roots. It requires prolonged exposure for proper weathering so that it can release magnesium. By the time this action occurs, your crops may have long passed the critical stage of development when magnesium could have promoted higher quality yields.

Sul-Po-Mag is different! It immediately releases magnesium to your crops. Sul-Po-Mag does this because its total surface area is 100,000 sq. ft. per lb. of Sul-Po-Mag.

Sul-Po-Mag dissolves in water at a controlled rate. You get a long tree feeding...a nutrient availability.

SULPHATE, SULPHUR BONUS

Sul-Po-Mag contains more than essential magnesium. It gives you a bonus of 22% potassium sulphate and 22% sulphur. Give your crop quality an inexpensive boost and enjoy the peace-of-mind Sul-Po-Mag offers. Ask your fertilizer dealer to mix in Sul-Po-Mag—the very next time you order. Profit-conscious fruit producers prefer not to gamble with plant nutrients. That's why so many make Sul-Po-Mag an integral part of their soil fertility program.

An important "side benefit" of Sul-Po-Mag is adding essential sulphur to the soil. Sulphur plays a vital role in the production of plant protein. It is contained in important growth regulators and enzymes.

Influence of chloride and sulphate supply on growth of Elberta peach trees — International Minerals & Chemical Corporation test pots dramatically illustrate how increasing supplies of chloride reduce tree growth... while increasing levels of sulphate alone promote tree growth and foliage. Combined chloride and sulphate feeding depresses growth in proportion to the amount of chloride supplied.

Miss Guitroz Becomes Bride of David W. Boyd

Tall baskets of white gladioli and stock adorned the altar and aisle of the Church of the Incarnate Word in New Orleans Saturday, Feb. 4, for the wedding of Miss Hazel Doria Guitroz and William Boyd Jacks.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Alva Joseph deAlaminana and the late Sebin Noca Guitroz while he is the son of David Jacks of Charleston, S. C., and Mrs. Arthur Lotacano of Bay St. Louis.

The Rt. Rev. John Quinn officiated at the double ring ceremony at 10 a.m.

Given in marriage by her step father, the bride wore a white gown of bouquet tulle and reemboirered Alencon lace. The molded bodice featured a scooped neckline outlined in appliques of the lace and had long tapered sleeves. The very bouffant skirt was fashioned with folds of the material over the hips and appliques of lace down the front. Her Watteau train fell from the neckline in the back. She wore a fingertip veil of French illusion held to her head by a double coronet of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and fleur d'amour.

Mrs. L. Billiot was matron of honor and Miss Charlene Durel was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were the Misses Conchetta Palermo and Sheila Huff, all of New Orleans. Their frocks were of champagne peau de sole made on sheath lines with full overskirts, Sabrina necklines and very short sleeves. Their headpieces were circular veils of matching net held by bands of satin and they carried triangular arrangements of pom-pom chrysanthemums.

Monroe Cuevas of Bay St. Louis was best man and the groomsmen were Sheldon Seuzeneau and Milton Cuevas of Bay St. Louis and Raymond Moreau of Gretna, La. Ushering were Earl Weber of New Orleans and Jerry Seuzeneau of Bay St. Louis. The reception was in the Walnut Room of New Orleans Airport. Mrs. deAlaminana received in a cinnamon satin sheath, a rose flowered hat and matching pearlized accessories and a green orchid corsage. Mrs. Lotacano chose a turquoise tulle, bone accessories and a lavender orchid.

For their wedding trip to Florida, the bride traveled in a beige woolen suit trimmed with a mink collar, a small beige hat, brown accessories and a purple orchid. They will be at home at 6006 Annunciation St. in New Orleans.

Dr. Hava Wins Top Prize in Gulfport Show

Dr. Walter C. Hava of Waveland took top super sweepstakes honors Sunday in Gulfport in the camellia show sponsored by the Men's Camellia Society. This is a new category originated this year for competition among former sweepstakes winners only.

Other local winners were Mrs. Paul M. Miller, best arrangement, and Mrs. Henry C. Word, runner-up, best arrangement.

Pilgrimage Museum Items Sought

An assortment of fascinating pieces of Americana is being assembled from county residents for the museum which will be one of the feature attractions of the annual spring pilgrimage in the Bay-Waveland area March 21.

The museum, originally scheduled at Porter's Pontiac showroom on Uman Avenue, has been moved to the old Taylor School building at 116 Leonhard Ave., Miss Veronica Mohr, local pilgrimage chairman, announced this week.

A visit to the museum is on the afternoon calendar for the pilgrimage, following luncheon at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club and a visit to local homes during the morning.

Miss Mohr is asking anyone willing to loan items dating back 100 years for the museum to call her at HO 7-6650. Clocks, lamps, china and documents, particularly those of local origin, are being sought to augment the collection. She noted that insurance and police protection will be provided while they are on display.

Legion Juniors Plan Egg Hunt

Plans for an Easter egg hunt on March 26 were discussed by the junior group of the American Legion auxiliary when it met last Thursday at the Legion Home. Details will be announced later.

Several other projects were outlined after the opening ceremonies. Juniors interested in making a scrapbook for the hospitals are requested to do so and bring them to the next meeting.

The group plans to make Easter baskets for the underprivileged and members who will donate candy for this are to call Mrs. Sam Benigno or Mrs. Erwin Necaise.

Patricia Piazza won the attendance prize. Refreshments were served by Mesdames Harold Saucier and Clarence Schindler.

ly Peers At Waveland

While it lasted—our past week—weather was just what we needed (most of the time), and balmy breezes blowing our Coast simply couldn't be better. (We hope you're all enjoying the weather here.)

Among the summer residents spending the holidays in Waveland were Lois and Carlos Lozano, Lois and Pat Glass, Winnie and Jack Holm, Gesina and Armand Serpas with Darlene, Sue and Kathy and their guests Gerry, Gay, Pam and Bunch Olinis, and Pauline, Harold, Sue Lynn and Robbie Toca who all took part in the Carnival celebration in the Bay gaily garbed in red and white clown suits.

Doris and Merlin Markel walked away with prizes for the best costumes at the American Legion Dance — Dot was a flapper of the '20's and Merlin a mountaineer. John Weathers had everybody trying to guess his identity when he appeared at the affair dressed as a 'mammy'.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fromeyer, Jr. and daughters enjoyed a week's vacation at the home of Mrs. Fromeyer's mother, Mrs. William Bradford. They had a bit of excitement helping to extinguish a fire which started in front of John Auderer's house and spread to two adjoining lots. Fortunately the Waveland volunteer fire department arrived in time to put out the fire before any serious damage ensued. Mrs. Bradford's mother, Mrs. W. J. Cobb, joined the family Sunday and they all attended the parade in Pass Christian.

Some of those on the sidelines cheering his progress were wife, Marie, Gloria and Herbert Peterson, Beulah and Frank Peterson, Josie and Clarence Herbig, Carmel and J. L. Lenfant, Gert Robertson and Roy Borgeas, etc.

Carmen and Dan Kircheneuter spent Carnival at their Clermont cottage and entertained a houseful (and yardful) of guests. Mr. and Mrs. Bert McCarry and children Elaine, Jimmy and Johnny spent last weekend at their summer home on Forest Avenue. They dropped in on Ruth Landry and presented her with a bit of belated Christmas cheer—she said it was more than welcome, the weather being a trifle gloomy.

We miss the O.G. Hankins formerly of Clermont Harbor... they are now at the Monte Carlo Motel on the Chief Menden Highway. Would love to hear from them just to find out how they are feeling, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wesner entertained at a seafood luncheon Friday honoring Father Hallon at their Forest Avenue home. Mary Rousseau is feeling better each day. She and Gergette (Mrs. Frank) Simmons went to Gulfport last Tuesday and she and Joe attended a party last Saturday night.

Vivian Simmons was proudly showing Christmas pictures she had just received from her daughter in Germany... her five grandchildren were pictured around the Christmas tree and wearing costumes... she's hoping that they'll return to this country before 1962.

Clermont-Lakeshore Youth Center Slated

Formation of a youth center for the Clermont-Lakeshore area was initiated at a meeting Monday night of a large group of parents and interested persons at the Clermont Harbor Civic Center.

Mrs. L. J. Garcia was elected president of the new organization with Mrs. Herbert Peterson to serve as vice president. Both are Clermont residents. Mrs. Clarence Moran was named secretary and Mrs. E. Rinehart, treasurer. They are from Lakeshore. Mrs. J. L. Lenfant was appointed publicity chairman.

The organization will be known as the Clermont-Lakeshore Youth Center and will provide a place of amusement for young people of those communities along with Anley and those residing on U. S. 90 in the Gulfview area.

Leonard Lohmer, president of the Clermont Civic Assn., opened the meeting and extended the best wishes of that body. Ed Orrie was named chairman for a fair which the new group will sponsor some time after Easter to raise funds to supply the center with games, books and equipment for entertainment of the various age groups.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Monday, March 6, at the Civic Center in Clermont with all interested persons invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe LaFontaine, (Chink and Ruth) celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary Mardi Gras day with a big party in their place following the parade in the Bay.

Among the many who enjoyed the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Billy Osbourne, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Lachner, Mr. and Mrs. Skeets Starita of Bay St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hendrix of Kitty, Me., Mr. and Mrs. Thornton of New Orleans, George Schenk, Billy Boudin, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence LaFontaine, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Sheshuque, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Scufflet, Mr. and Mrs. Glover Green, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Favre, Clarence Schwartz, Mrs. Frank Lombardo, Mrs. Nicholas Schwartz, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Necaise, Mr. and Mrs. Coburn Lachner, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McCordle, Mr. and Mrs. Bully Lachner and George Gandy.

Happy birthday to my little grand-nephew, Mark Strickland of Chalmette, who was a big 2 on Feb. 16th.

Bobby Lachner, Vic Green, Jr., Oris Lachner, E. J. Lachner, Clyde Lachner, Bobby Boudin and Sammy McCordle did a good job in the parade Tuesday and won a first prize for their efforts on the Gulfview Riding team.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hendrix former caretakers at Sportsmen Lake are here from Kitty, Me., for a few weeks.

Johnny Borgeas of St. Stanislaus, Wyatt Bowman of Christ Episcopal Day School and Margie Lenfant, of St. Joseph's visited Gulfview School last week.

A benefit shower was held at Logtown School Saturday night for Mr. and Mrs. Bill Maskew, who lost all but the clothes they were wearing when fire destroyed their combination business and home last Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Shubue and son visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Scufflet, Mardi Gras Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Croncy were at their summer home Mardi Gras Day, and enjoyed the hoopla in New Orleans via television.

Joy Rita Skinner had a 12th birthday last week. Other birthdays celebrated too, were those of her aunt, Mrs. Leona Green, and uncle, Hickey Schwartz.

Congratulations to Mrs. Clarence Moran for the lovely job she did on the Gulfview P-TA float. Cheryl Moran and Laney Rinehart made a handsome bride and groom, Soree Lamphere was the minister and bridesmaids were Evayne Schwartz and Beverly Fricke, Sammy McCordle and Speedy Courge were ushers and Joyce Zengarling and Madeline Siglet were flower girls.

Mrs. Mable Bown is back at work after a medical check up and tests.

W. J. Cameron former Gulfview teacher, visited the school Friday evening to the delight of students and helped Mr. Caruso coaching but St. Joseph girls and St. Stanislaus boys walked off victorious.

Baby Henry Paul Monti spent two days in Hotel Dieu last week for examinations. Reports were very encouraging this time.

New '61 Chevy with Jet-smooth ride!

The '61 Chevy loves to go because it goes so well. Purrs along pavements like a happy tabby. Takes rough roads in stride and all roads in style. Just why does a Jet-smooth Chevy treat riders as royally as the high-priced luxury cars? It all came about through a delightful blend of Full Coil suspension, precision-balanced wheels, unique chassis cushioning, and a superb Body by Fisher insulated to hush away road sounds. All this adds up to less sway, less bounce, less dip, less dive, less tilt, less noise, less... well you name it. Now combine this Jet-smooth ride with conveniences to pamper you and roominess to relax in. Add a full measure of quiet good looks. Voila, you've got Chevy's formula. And the proof is in the riding. When you sample a Jet-smooth Chevy at your Chevrolet dealer's we think you'll find it just to your taste.

Teen times

It was back to school last week for all who enjoyed the Carnival holidays. Things can't be too dull until Easter, however, as there's much school activity between now and then. As basketball season comes to an end baseball schedules are soon to be announced. Bay High students are hard at work on their semi-annual, and plans are already being made for Junior-Senior proms.

Pretty Judy Compton enjoyed a triple holiday on Mardi Gras. She was a member of the Bay High Carnival Court appropriately gowned in red as it was also Valentine's Day and her birthday. Following the Ball Judy's parents entertained for her at the Youth Center.

Bay High band members who attended the clinic at Pearl River Junior College Friday and Saturday were Caroline Daniels, Marlene Drury, Gail Higgins, Martha Wheeler, Karen Williams and C. J. Favre. Majorettes Virginia Breland and Betty Smith and Featurette Irene Thomas accompanied them on the trip.

Get well wishes go to Davis McCall who is in Baptist Hospital recovering from a broken hip, fractured pelvis and fractured hip, suffered in an automobile accident Feb. 8 in New Orleans.

Billy Bradford spent the weekend in Waveland. Billy has placed his application to board at Stanislaus next September. Congratulations to Virginia Breland, Elaine Sones, Wendy Allison and Tommy Gadsden who received silver basketballs for being selected as members of the All-Conference team at the recent tournament in Pass Christian.

Cathy Saut and Dick Daley, Jr. were among the Rebel Riders appearing in the Carnival Parade in Pass Christian.

Judy Tallac was awarded first place in the horseback division in the Bay parade and Pam Smith of Waveland was winner in the best individual modeling competition.

The Hi Bolls senior girls bowling team composed of Min Roy Briva, Ann Clark, Mildred Parlier, Paula Crider and Ann Bryant, substitutes, are leading other teams in their division. They have a record of 6-0.

Mickey Ballatin is another having fun... so is Tunnell Backlund... the boys with a league on Monday afternoon. Kees Brumeyer has joined the ranks of the employed... he's helping Bob Tengersen on Saturday and Sunday.

Pat Borgeas entertained five attractive co-workers last weekend... her cousin, Harold Borgeas, recently returned from a stint in the Army in Hawaii was most interested in her guests.

In Memoriam

Chester Morris Bilbo on his 33rd birthday, Feb. 20, 1961. The blow was great, the shock severe. We little thought the end was near. And only those who have lost can tell. The pain of parting without farewell. More each day we miss you, darling. Friends may think the wound is healed. But they little know the sorrow. That lies within our hearts concealed. When evening shades are falling. And our hearts there comes a longing. If he only could come home. Friends may think we have forgotten. When at times they see us smile. But they little know the heartache. Our smiles hide all the while. WIFE, SONS, DAUGHTER, MOTHER, BROTHERS AND SISTERS

Deadline March 1 for Civitan Essay Contest

Wednesday is the deadline for entries in the high school essay contest sponsored by the Bay Civitan Club.

Socola Named Prexy Of Scholars Group

Dr. Edward M. Socola, associate professor of English at Louisiana State University at New Orleans, has been elected president of the American Studies Association of Lower Mississippi. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Socola of Waveland and New Orleans.

The association is composed of scholars in Mississippi, Louisiana, and Arkansas interested in American civilization.

Civilians serving with Smith on the contest committee are Kenneth G. McCarty, county superintendent of schools, and Luke Caruso, Gulfview School teacher and coach.

Thomas Draws North, South Pole Stations
From one pole of the earth to the other is quite a way to initiate an apprentice seaman into the Navy, but that is the one August M. Thomas, Jr., had. Thomas is spending a 30-day leave with his parents at their home on U. S. 90 after returning from a long tour of duty at the North Pole. His ship, an ice-breaker, established and equipped several bases there and collected scientific information in the geophysical year survey.

Stationed now at Seattle, Thomas will leave on a similar expedition to the South Pole upon returning to his ship.

Applications Slow On Homestead Tax, Assessor Reports
Tax Assessor George Heitzmann reported about 2,200 homestead applications filed through this week leaving about 1,300 more to go before the April 1 deadline.

"They are coming in very slowly and I advise persons eligible to apply soon as the deadline is coming fast," he observed. He also advised persons building new homes last year to make initial application as they will not be able to take advantage of lower tax rates otherwise.

Schedule Physicals At Jones, St. Rose
First graders in Valena C. Jones school will be given physical examinations Wednesday by the county health officer, Dr. Paul Magee.

Those at St. Rose de Lima School are to be examined March 8 as part of the check of all first graders in the county in public and parochial schools.

Hawks Earn Slot In State Playoffs

North Central earned a spot in the state basketball playoffs next week beating a big Mendenhall five, 59-56, in the south Mississippi tournament at Collins Wednesday night. The Hawks' arch-rival this year, Ocean Springs, also won a spot, defeating Florence by one point.

Getting off to an early lead the Hawks made every post a winning one. Berlin Necaise led the pack with 23 point followed by captain Douglas Necaise with 22, Donald Necaise 16 and Mc Coy Peterson 15.

Score by quarters: North Central 14 18 16 11 - 59 Mendenhall 12 19 14 11 - 56

The Hawks took runner-up honors Saturday night in the District Eight A-AA tournament at Wiggins, Ocean Springs coming from behind to beat the Hawks 72-66 for their third consecutive win over North Central. All finalists advanced to the south Mississippi tourney.

North Central took a strong 20-12 first quarter lead but Ocean Springs whittled away at the margin and by half time had cut it down to one point, 33-34, moving into a 55-51 lead going into the final period. Berlin Necaise got 22, Donald Necaise 16 and Mc Coy Peterson 15.

Jaycees Seek State Honors At Meeting

Six Bay St. Louis Jaycees will attend the winter All-State Jaycee meeting in Meridian tomorrow through Sunday.

E. J. Marengo, recently presented the Bay St. Louis Jaycee Distinguished Service Award, will be a candidate for the state award. Andre Arceneaux will compete in the Speech contest and Mike Haas, winner of the local SPOKE award as the outstanding new Jaycee, is a contestant for the state SPOKE honors.

Thomas O. Logue, president, said also attending in addition to himself will be David Treuzel and Dr. Frank Schmidt.

SPRING TRAINING - Joe Lotacana, freshman fullback from Bay St. Louis at Pearl River Junior College, inhales deeply as he completes a deep knee bend, one of the more difficult exercises, especially with 300 pounds. The burly fullback also bench presses 340 pounds as he keeps in shape for the coming gridiron season.

Gold Jays Post 17-7 Record for Season

Although losing their last game of the season to Runnel-sown 45-28 in the semi-finals of the District 8 B-BB basketball tournament Friday in Perkinston Junior College gymnasium, St. Joseph Academy's Gold Jays boast a successful season with a 17-7 record.

The sextet consists of juniors except captain Sheila Sturdivant who will be sorely missed at guard but a strong, experienced team is predicted next year. Mrs. Joseph Colson, coach, credited most of the team's success this year to the fine playing of the defensive guards, Stella, Brian Ardigues and Margo Jacob.

The Gold Jays were runners-up in the Harrison Central tournament, Bay High Invitational and won the sub-district title. Their victims were D'liberville, Harrison Central, McNeill (twice), St. Joseph's of Baton Rouge, North Central (twice) Perkinston, Pass Chris-dan (twice) Bay High (twice), Sacred Heart of Hattiesburg (twice), St. John of Gulfport (twice) and Vancleave.

They lost to Pass Christian, Carriere (twice) Harrison Central (twice), St. Martin and Runnel-sown.

Pacing the squad was the sensational Mary Jo Krieger, a junior and highest scorer. Other forwards were Judy Favre and Cassie Rhodes. On the second team were Beth Marzagh, Foye Mond, Mitzel Bloche, Bonnie Ardigues and Bonita French. All are local residents except Mary Jo Krieger who is a boarder.

On the junior team are Susie Rhodes Helen Lafontaine, Pam Kelly, Jo Pepper Morrison, Mary Virginia Morrison and Mary Doug Marzagh.

Managers were Sam Breath, Ursula Favre, Mary Beth Colson, scorekeeper Dianne Bethke; charterkeeper Judy Brum and time-keeper Dolores Poehl.

Moran, Plummer Winners

Paced by Marie Pierce, Moran's basketballers took top honors in the girls' division in the Sideline Club Independent invitational basketball tournament beating Kiln 56-45 Saturday night in Stanislaus' gymnasium.

Plummer Realty defeated St. William's 98-76 to take the men's trophy. Receipts of the tourney went to the new stands building fund.

Marie Pierce was awarded the outstanding girl trophy while David Smith of St. William's was selected outstanding man. Presentation of trophies were made by James N. Travirca, president of the Sideliners.

In the men's division Picaune 7-up beat Kiln 55-45; St. William's beat Bay St. Louis 47-42, Logtown beat Picaune Jaycees 64-29, Plummer beat Hammond 88-71, St. William's beat Logtown 64-53, and Plummer beat Picaune 7-up 64-50.

Women's division: Moran's beat Pearlgrinton 25-21; Kiln beat Pass Christian 31-30 and Moran's beat Picaune 56-33.

Officials were Billy Osborn, Reuben Ruiz, Jo Zimmerman and Wayne Dugan. Concession stand was operated by members of the Sideline Club, Travirca, Slim Drott and C. Perry. Overall chairman of the tournament committee was H. G. Davis, Jr.

Brackets are, girls: Friday, 6 p.m., Gulfview vs. North Bay; 8 p.m., Logtown vs. St. Joseph; Saturday, 1 p.m., North Central, defending champs, vs. winner of Logtown-St. Joseph; 7 p.m., finals.

Boys: Friday 7 p.m., Logtown vs. Gulfview; 9 p.m., North Bay vs. St. Stanislaus; 2 p.m., North Central, last year's champs, vs. winner of Logtown-Gulfview; 8 p.m., finals.

Baseball Schedules Set for BHS, SSC

While some local high school athletes are engaged in basketball tournaments and others are working out on the football gridiron for 20 days of spring practice, coaches are busily engaged in planning future events including track and baseball.

Coch Lance Lumpkin of Bay High and Brother Basil, athletic director at St. Stanislaus, said track schedules have not yet been completed but should be announced next week.

Principal Leo Rouse of North Central said organizing of a baseball team is still in the talking stage and football practice will

Hawk Gridiron To Be Finished For Fall Play

North Central's football field will be ready for next fall's home games, principal Leo Rouse said Monday night at a banquet honoring the football team. He added lights would be installed before the season's opening to give players more practice time.

Guest of honor Haywood Lader spoke briefly saying he hoped that by the end of next season the entire state would recognize the Hawks as a powerhouse in football as well as in basketball.

Herman Ray Necaise and Albert Wickton were named outstanding linemen and back and will receive trophies later. Members of the team received jackets.

Lakeshore Horse Show Is Sunday

A horse show will be staged at the Gulfview arena in Lakeshore beginning at 1 p.m. Sunday, according to Orris Lader, one of the promoters.

Entries have come from as far away as Alabama, he said. The new drill team, the Gulfview Riders, will perform and barrel races are planned for boys and girls, along with several novelty features.

The arena is on Back Bay Road behind the Orry Lader home.

Tennis Clinic Begins June 1

A long-neglected sport in Hancock County, tennis, will be spotlighted this year in Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Theo Tudury announced last week that the court near to City Hall was being repaired and an adequate lighting system installed. This week the Bay St. Louis Jaycees announced plans for a tennis clinic.

Joe Kern, chairman of the tennis committee, said the clinic will begin June 1 for boys and girls under 18 and those interested should bring a racket and three tennis balls. Dr. R. L. McKinley, Jr., will supervise the classes.

Mrs. Griffin Wins, Delay Inter-City

Mrs. John Griffin won the ladies day prize Tuesday at Pass Christian Isles Golf Club posting low pars of 16 on the water-logged course.

The inter-city tournament, originally scheduled for Tuesday was postponed until this Tuesday because of the recent heavy rains.

the municipal separate school district, had asked for street-type lights around the school.

The superintendent is to report on the number needed at the March session.

McCulloch said the lights are for prevention of vandalism. While a few hub caps were stolen from cars during the recent basketball tournament there has been no other vandalism to the school for at least six years, he added.

Mississippi Power Co. has proposed five lights, one on Second Street, one on each side of the school on Ulman and Carroll Avenues and two in back of the school.
